Phnom Penh's Garden City Water Park, built to international standards is now open to the public, according to the LYP Group's president Ly Yong Phat.

Garden City Water Park is located in Prek Tasek commune, Chroy Changvar district, about 15 kilometres north of Phnom Penh.

With a total investment of $44 million from LYP Group, a conglomerate managing many businesses in Cambodia, the water park is situated inside the Garden City satellite city where the LYP Group operates the $10-million Phnom Penh Safari since 2018.

According to the LYP Group’s president, the water park features sections including a man-made lagoon with three meters high waves, a beautiful man-made water fall, water slides, a children’s playground, and steam and sauna facilities with various attractions and activities.

Garden City Water Park has 38 modern and high quality entertainment equipment imported from the United States and the European Union. They are designed for people of all ages, including children, teenagers, and adults.

Those include Wave Paradise and Water Empire (the largest in ASEAN), Children’s Paradise, Mekong River, Wave Skiing and Whirlpool Valley.

During the soft-launch of the Garden City Water Park Sunday, he said that it was the biggest water park in Cambodia. He said that Garden City Water Park was built on 8.6 hectares of land, with 2.4 hectares of parking and the rest for the park itself.

“There are 38 types of facilities for water equipment with the technology to ensure the quality and safety for our customers,” he added. “The water park can accommodate up to 7,000 customers per day, but now we are allowing only 3,500 customers per day to prevent the spread of the COVID-19 pandemic,” he added. “There will be 280 jobs. However, we are now employing 185 staff... during COVID-19,” Yong Phat said.

Prime Minister Hun Sen said that he appreciated the investment because now the area has a five-star hotel, golf course, Morodok Techo National Stadium and now a water park. He said that it is part of a long term vision for development.

“I am proud that you [LYP Group’s president Ly Yong Phat] invested in this area. For this investment, they spent $44 million which is a big investment which will provide whole some family entertainment and recreation as well as convention facilities.”
